Politburo selects Nandi-Ndaitwah as presidential candidate. SWAPO'S politburo on Wednesday night endorsed its vice president, Netumbo Nandi-Ndaitwah, as the ruling party's presidential candidate for the presidential and National Assembly elections scheduled for November. The politburo wants the party's extraordinary congress moved to 2025 to prevent internal division just months before the elections. The politburo, which has met for the second time since Swapo's president, Hage Geingob, died on 4 February, has now referred the decision for endorsement or refusal to the party's central committee, which is expected to meet on 9 March. The central committee is dominated by Nandi-Ndaitwah's faction. - The Namibian

VAT relief for 23,000 SME's. Business representatives have welcomed the decision by finance and public enterprises minister lipumbu Shiimi to exempt small to medium scale enterprises (SMEs) making less than N$1 million annually from paying value-added tax (VAT). The move is expected to benefit 23 000 SMEs, Shiimi said in his budget speech on Wednesday. Namibia Chamber of Commerce and Industry (NCCI) president Bisey/Virab says the decision is a welcome development and will go a long way in allowing local businesses to reinvest their earnings. - The Namibian

N$14.3 billion Eurobond debt repayment weighs on Govt. Eighteen months before it is due to repay a Eurobond of US$750 million (N$14.3 billion), the government is strategising on how to repay the debt it took on in 2011. Finance minister lipumbu Shiimi during his 2024/25 budget on Wednesday said the government has a significant amount of debt that needs to be paid back, the largest single-day debt being the US$750 million Eurobond which is due next year. "This is the largest single-day debt maturity in the history of our country," Shiimi said. To manage this, Shiimi said the government plans to set aside at least N$3,5 billion from Southern African Customs Union (Sacu) receipts in the fiscal year 2024/25, and another N$2 billion in 2025/26 to a sinking fund. This fund is meant to ensure that they have enough money to pay off two-thirds (US$500 million) of the Eurobond when it matures. The Namibian

South Africa appoints Phillips as Transnet CEO to fix logistics. South Africa appointed Michelle Phillips as the new chief executive officer of Transnet, the nation's beleaguered state logistics company, four months after the former head quit. It also selected Nosipho Maphumulo as the group chief financial officer, the Ministry of Public Enterprises said in a statement Wednesday. Phillips, who is currently acting in the CEO position, has more than 20 years of experience at the company in various roles. Transnet controls a nationwide rail network with routes stretching over 20,000 kilometres (12,500 miles) and runs all the commercial ports in Africa's most industrialized nation. The monopoly became a target of corruption during President Jacob Zuma's rule and deteriorated further after he stepped down in 2018.

Low metal prices push Implats to delay projects and cut capex. Platinum group metals (PGM) producer Impala Platinum (Implats) has decided to delay several projects as a result of "capital and cost interventions" in response to low metal prices and a decline in earnings for the six months to end-December. While fundamental demand for its primary products remained robust, the persistence of lower PGM prices required a robust strategic response to ensure the long-term sustainability of the group, CEO Nico Muller said. – Business Day

Santam net income surges 64% as investment markets pick up. SA's largest short-term insurer, Santam, reported a 64% surge in full-year net profit as favourable investment markets more than compensated for its underwriting margins, which came under pressure from claims related to floods in the Western Cape and other natural disasters. Net income surged to R3.25bn in the year ended December from R1.98bn a year earlier as global bond and equity markets perked up in 2023 compared with a year ago when investors agonised over the effects of the Russia-Ukraine war. – Business Day
