International Market Wrap

A surprising late-day reversal took US stocks higher as investors await Friday's jobs report to gauge how hawkish the Federal Reserve will be. Recent data pointed to a resilient US economy, buoying sentiment later in the day. The S&P 500 ended its losing streak on Thursday, after falling for most of the session. The Nasdaq 100 finished the day flat. US Treasuries slumped amid a selloff that left the two-year yield at the highest in almost 15 years. Elsewhere, oil bounced above US$90 a barrel, undoing much of the losses sparked by China's move to lock down the metropolis of Chengdu to curb Covid. Gold struggled to break above US$1,700 an ounce, while Bitcoin held the US$20,000 mark.

Local News

Private sector credit (PSCE) rose by N$342.9 million or 0.3% m/m in July, bringing the cumulative credit outstanding to N$116.2 billion. On a year-on-years basis, private sector credit grew by 10.6% y/y. Normalising for the large increases in claims on non-resident private sectors observed between January and March this year sees PSCE growth at 3.5% y/y. Cumulative credit extended to the private sector over the last 12-months amounted to N$11.1 billion, up 287.2% y/y over the same period last year (26.7% y/y on a normalised basis). Claims on non-resident private sectors have taken up the bulk of the issuance with debts over the past 12 months summing to N$6.97 billion or 63% of the total debt issuance, followed by corporates which took up N$2.84 billion (or 26%) and individuals at N$1.32 billion (12%).

CoW rules out 5G network, moves ahead with fiber project. The City of Windhoek says it has no plans to install a 5G network in the capital but will move ahead with the operationalisation of its fiber project. "The City has no ambitions of acquiring the 5G network and there has been major confusion on the variation of 5G network and fibre deployment. The City of Windhoek has an existing optic fiber infrastructure network in Windhoek which is used to provide municipal services such as electricity to the public. The City intends to use the already existing infrastructure to offer affordable and quality technology services to residents through the smart city initiative," City Spokesperson Harold Akwenye told The Brief on Thursday. – The Brief

NAB snubs South Africa's call on imports. Despite recent calls from South African farmers for Namibia and Botswana to open their borders for the importation of horticultural products, the Namibian Agronomic Board (NAB) maintained the importation ban on 11 of 19 products on the list. According to a notice to all horticultural traders issued by NAB chief executive officer Fidelis Mwazi on 30 August, the ban will apply from 1 to 30 September. Only four products – gem squashes, watermelons, sweet melons and sweetcorn – are open for importation without restriction, although the 47% market-share promotion (MSP) rules apply. – The Namibian

Swakop Uranium still to recoup N$89.4 billion investment in Husab mine. Swakop Uranium says it is yet to reach a break-even-point in its local operations after investing approximately N$89.4 billion (US$5.2 billion) in Husab mine over the years. The company's Executive Vice President for Human Resources and Corporate Affairs, Patrick Chizabulyo, said despite a good operations performance, the investment made into the mine is still to be recouped. "For any company to realise profit and sustainability a substantial investment is needed, and in this case over US$5 billion has been pumped into the mine. We are performing well, and we have now managed to pay half of whatever has been invested. So, we are looking forward to a full repayment, and then we can start counting profits," Chizabulyo told The Brief. – The Brief

Chance of rain looking better again. The chance that La Niña will once again gain a hold on global weather patterns this year currently stands at 70% - about three times the normal probability. Moreover, current La Niña conditions are very similar to previous years when there were strong La Niña weather conditions, such as in 1973, 1975, 1988, 1999 as well as 2010. At the same time, it appears that the Indian Ocean dipole (IOD)'s negative phase can continue until late spring - all good news for the rain forecast for Southern Africa, says Johan van den Berg, an independent climatologist. In his weather forecast of Monday 22 August, he said although there is little to no rain forecasted until November, the country should receive average to above-average rain from the latter part of November until February. – Republikein

SA Economic News

South Africa's manufacturing activity improves in August. Following a tough start to the third quarter, an easing in the intensity of load-shedding saw conditions in the manufacturing sector improve in August compared to July, when manufacturing activity fell to levels last seen in July 2021 when output was hurt by looting and unrest in KwaZulu-Natal and Gauteng. The Bureau for Economic Research (BER) released its Absa purchasing managers' index (PMI) on Thursday, which showed improvement in manufacturing activity, increasing to 52.1 points in August from 47.6 in July. – Business Day

Company News

African Rainbow Minerals bets on the future of PGMs. Diversified miner African Rainbow Minerals (ARM) is looking to cash in on platinum group metals (PGMs) with its purchase of the Bokoni Platinum mine even as the automobile sector — traditionally a major consumer of the precious metals — embraces electric vehicles. The R51.4bn company said in its earnings statement for the year to end-June that a recovery in auto catalyst demand and tightening emission standards were expected to drive demand for PGMs in the short to medium term, and that constrained growth in supply would support prices. – Business Day

Altron appoints Werner Kapp as new CEO. Technology group Altron has named industry veteran Werner Kapp as its new CEO, replacing Mteto Nyati who left in June after a successful five-year tenure. Kapp spent 22 years at Dimension Data where he held various roles, including CEO of Middle East and Africa, and COO and programme manager for the region. – Business Day

Fortress delivers strong results but holds back on dividend. Though Fortress REIT is having hiccups with its unresolved capital structure, resulting in the company not paying dividends, it has delivered a strong set of results for the financial year ended June 2022. In August, the majority of Fortress REIT A and B shareholders voted against the proposed share scheme in which Fortress proposed to exchange each A-ordinary share for 3.01 B-shares. If shareholders had voted in favour of the proposed scheme, they could have enjoyed R1.707bn in distributable earnings for the 2022 financial year. – Business Day

Implats pays dividend despite reporting a drop in profits. Precious metals group Implats Platinum (Implats) declared a final dividend on Thursday in its 2022 annual results despite a drop in revenue, profits and production, and amid ongoing macroeconomic uncertainty, inflationary pressures and geopolitical challenges. The R153.4bn company declared a final dividend of R10.50 a share, amounting to a R8.9bn payout. The total dividend for 2022 is R15.75. – Business Day
Walmart enters deal to buy remaining stake in SA's Massmart. US retail giant Walmart has signed an agreement to begin buying the 47% stake in South African retailer Massmart it does not own, the companies said in a joint statement on Thursday. Massmart had said on Monday that its majority owner Walmart had offered it R6.4 billion to purchase the remaining shares and to delist the company from the Johannesburg Stock Exchange. – Moneyweb

M&R contemplates selling its stake in Gautrain concession company. JSE-listed multinational engineering and contracting company Murray & Roberts (M&R) is contemplating selling its 50% shareholding in the Bombela Concession Company, the operator of the Gautrain. The group has valued its shareholding at more than R1.4 billion. M&R financial director Daniël Grobler said on Thursday that this is one of the options being considered to increase the working capital required by the group to execute its R59.5 billion order book. – Moneyweb

Santam declares interim dividend, despite slump in half-year earnings. Santam managed to declare an interim dividend despite a slump in half-year earnings driven by severe flooding in KwaZulu-Natal, financial market volatility and inflationary pressures that caused claim values to spike. Basic earnings per share (EPS) fell 51% to 425c in the six months to end-June 2022 while headline earnings dropped 53% to R448m in the interim period, the Cape Town-headquartered short-term insurer said in a stock exchange filing on Thursday. Nevertheless, the group was able to declare an interim dividend of 462c, up from 432c in the previous half-year period. – Business Day

Sasol agrees R411.69m settlement in US class action suit. Sasol on Thursday confirmed it has agreed to pay US$24 million (R411.69 million) to settle a class action lawsuit brought by US investors claiming it deliberately understated the cost of its Louisiana chemical plant project. The lawsuit was brought by holders of Sasol securities who claimed the company had misled them by failing to disclose the true cost and schedule of its Lake Charles chemical plant, according to a statement posted on the website of US law firm Hagens Berman which is representing the investors. – Moneyweb

SADC

Zimbabwe January-July gold export earnings rose 85% y/y. Zimbabwe earned US$1.09 billion from the export of 18,774 kilograms of gold in the first seven months of 2022, compared to US$592 million received for 10,446 kilograms a year earlier, according to data from the Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe.
