Government bonds in Asia Pacific followed Treasuries lower as oil's four-day rally revived inflation concerns ahead of key US consumer price data later this week. Bonds dropped in Australia and New Zealand after US 10-year yields rose six basis points on Monday to 4.71%. Treasury futures also fell, with no cash Treasury trading during Asian hours Tuesday due to a public holiday in Japan. A Bloomberg gauge of the dollar held its gains from the previous session. Gold rose for a third day, climbing above US$4,400 an ounce. Silver and platinum also advanced. Elsewhere, oil held a four-day gain after US President Donald Trump made sweeping new demands on Iran, clouding the outlook for a deal to reopen the Strait of Hormuz. Brent was steady around US$87.75 a barrel after jumping 5% Monday.

Standard Bank Namibia becomes first local bank to offer direct access to China's CIPS. Works and Transport Minister Veikko Nekundi has ordered the Namibia Airports Company (NAC) to transform itself from a caretaker of airport infrastructure into a commercially driven state-owned enterprise, giving its board 30 days to address failures identified in an investigation report. Diamond slump deepens as Namibia's growth outlook improves. Namibia's diamond industry is facing another sharp contraction, with the Bank of Namibia warning that weak global demand, growing competition from lab-grown diamonds and trade tariffs are deepening what it describes as a structural decline in the sector. The central bank expects diamond mining output to fall by 11.7% in 2026, following a 19.4% contraction last year. The 2026 forecast was revised down by six percentage points from the March economic outlook. The outlook remains weak in 2027, with diamond production projected to contract by a further 12.3%. – Windhoek Observer

House prices steady as volumes growth tempers. The FNB House Price Index grew by 7.4% on a 12-month average basis in the second quarter of this year, an increase from 7.1% observed in the first quarter of 2025 but slightly below the 7.7% recorded in the second of 2025. Continued house price appreciation suggests that housing demand remains resilient, which is likely to sustain elevated housing costs and contribute to sticky inflation within the housing sub-category, FNB said. Growth across market segments was varied, with the small and medium segments growth moderating to 2.6% and 2.1% respectively, while the large and luxury segments surged to 6.6% and 21.0% respectively. – Windhoek Observer

Kganyago pushes for 'risky' structural reforms to spur economic growth. Reserve Bank governor urges shaking up the status quo to unlock sluggish growth. South Africa must take bold steps, including shaking up the status quo in order to push through the structural reforms that are crucial to jump-starting sluggish economic growth, Reserve Bank Governor Lesetja Kganyago says. In a wide-ranging interview with Business Day on Thursday, Kganyago expanded on a call he made during a public lecture at the University of South Africa earlier in the week for the country to take risks in order to spur growth. Citing Oxford economist Stefan Dercon's book Gambling on Development, Kganyago told his audience during the lecture that strong economic growth means "trying things that are risky". – Business Day
