International Market Wrap

Volatility continued to grip financial markets on concern the Federal Reserve's aggressive stance to fight stubbornly high inflation will throw the world's largest economy into a recession. After facing several twists and turns, the S&P 500 closed down for a fifth straight day - its longest losing streak since January. The technology-heavy Nasdaq 100 climbed. Traders remained cautious ahead of the Fed's decision Wednesday and have now almost fully priced in a 75-basis-point hike, the biggest since 1994. A closely watched part of the US yield curve inverted briefly, signalling concerns that restrictive policy may take a bigger toll on the economy. The dollar rallied, the Japanese yen sank to a 24-year low, while the pound slid to its lowest since March 2020.

Phosphate mining gets the nod. The Namibian Chamber of Environment (NCE) has given the dredging of marine phosphate material within mining licence area ML170 a nod of approval. This is after reviewing the latest scoping report and public consultation by Namibia Marine Phosphates (NMP) about the original environmental impact assessment (EIA). NCE chief executive officer Chris Brown yesterday said the chamber has also reviewed many independent specialist studies – some completed as recently as in 2020. Brown said the project has virtually no disadvantages. – The Namibian

No consensus over Sacu revenue sharing. Member states in the Southern African Customs Union (Sacu) are still to find consensus over an equitable revenue-sharing formula. This is despite several ministerial meetings in the past few years. South Africa still takes the largest chunk of the revenue-sharing formula, while Namibia, Lesotho, Botswana and Eswatini have been pushing for a 'fair' revenue sharing formula. Sacu executive secretary Paulina Elago says despite the delay, member states will continue to apply the existing formula. – The Namibian

Individual taxes surpass corporates in Khomas – NamRA. The Namibia Revenue Agency (NamRA) has expressed concern over companies in the Khomas region that are contributing fewer taxes to the fiscus compared to individuals. "When you look at that number, whereby individual taxpayers contribute about 49% in Khomas with corporates only contributing about 11%, the question we need to ask ourselves is something right there?" said Sam Shivute, the national tax collector's Commissioner and CEO on Tuesday during a stakeholder engagement session. Speaking at the same occasion, NamRA Head of Domestic Taxes Idi Itope said the agency is owed over N$5.6 billion in the Khomas region, excluding penalties and interest. – The Brief

SARB reforms will not impact Namibia's monetary policy decisions – BoN. The Bank of Namibia (BoN) has begun monitoring monetary developments in South Africa to see if they will have major implications on the domestic economy. This was after the South African Reserve Bank (SARB) recently proposed reforms of its monetary policy implementation framework (MPIF) which is geared towards money and liquidity supply management of the South African (SA) economy. The change will affect the level of liquidity South African commercial banks will maintain with SARB and the base/reference rate (Repo) that they earn from SARB. Consequently, this could have a ripple effect on the rates investors or depositors make on their deposits with SA commercial banks, as the repo rate is often used as a base/reference rate for the deposit rates. "Preliminary indications are that there are no imminent plans or need for BoN to change and/or adopt a similar framework in Namibia because a) the Namibian banking or financial sector is structurally different from that of SA despite being connected by subsidiaries operating in Namibia," BoN Director: Strategic Communications and International Relations, Kazembire Zemburuka said in response to an inquiry from The Brief. – The Brief

Rough waters delay Equiano cable landing. The landing of the long-awaited Equiano submarine fibre-optic internet cable on Swakopmund's shore, scheduled to take place on 17 June, has been postponed due to unpredictable weather conditions. Although the "Ile de Sein" vessel carrying the cable has arrived in Namibian waters, additional undersea work - required before the cable can be brought to shore - is highly dependent on calm seas. "The date for shoring of the cable has changed several times. "During winter, our Namibian waters are renowned for their unpredictability," Paratus marketing coordinator Cornelia Mans said Tuesday. It is hoped the shoring will occur between 22 and 24 June, "depending on weather conditions". – Namibian Sun

Coca-Cola to delay IPO of Africa bottler on market turmoil. Coca-Cola delayed the planned initial public offering of part of its stake in an African bottler of its products, saying a rescheduled listing would depend on improved market conditions. The Atlanta-based soft-drink giant is the latest company to pull back on a sizeable listing as market sentiment continues to worsen. The company set the IPO plan for Coca-Cola Beverages Africa in April 2021, part of its effort to focus resources on brand building and innovation, but is now eyeing an IPO in 2023, according to a statement Tuesday. - Bloomberg

CRAN, MTC reach levies settlement agreement. The Communications Regulatory Authority of Namibia (CRAN) and Mobile Telecommunications Limited (MTC) have reached a settlement agreement, closing a 10-year legal dispute on the legality of regulatory levies for the period 31 March 2016 to 11 June 2018. The agreement, whose details were not made public, came after some industry players had challenged Section 23 of the Communications Act (No. 8 of 2009) in the High Court in 2012 in order to determine the constitutionality of the regulatory levies as enforced by CRAN. According to CRAN, the parties had been engaged in negotiations over an extensive period and have also agreed to withdraw all cases pending between them in the High Court. – The Brief

Breweries partnership with Heineken set to bolster close to N$10 billion FDI inflow. The Namibia Breweries Limited (NBL) last week announced its amalgamation with Dutch brewer Heineken International B.V., with hopes to better compete with other global players within and beyond Namibian borders such as AB InBev, 'the world's largest brewer'. The proposed transaction entails Heineken acquiring in-scope operations of Distell Group Holdings (DGH) and a controlling interest in NBL. Further, as an extension and consequence of the foregoing, NBL will acquire the Namibian operations of DGH. This was revealed by NBL Managing Director, Marco Wenk, during a stakeholders conference, adding that "in the absence of a significant partner, Namibia Breweries currently finds itself in a position where it has to fend for itself both in terms of competition in Namibia as well as beyond our borders." "The transaction seeks to establish a sustainable competitive landscape throughout Africa, allowing the parties to actively compete against the likes of AB InBev, the world's largest brewer. With Foreign Direct Investment of close to N$10 billion flowing into Namibia, the transaction is lauded as a major vote of confidence in the country and the region as a whole, and the next step in ensuring that the 100-year-old proudly Namibian business and its brands continue to grow as NBL's full potential is unlocked as part of the larger Heineken construct," a statement from the NBL reads. – Namibia Economist

Nedbank has biggest exposure to Comair turbulence at R1.7bn. Nedbank stood out as the bank with the biggest exposure to Comair, amassing nearly half of the total of R4bn the airline owed to creditors when the airline filed a court application last week to wind down its operations and liquidate its assets. In court papers as part of the provisional liquidation application, which was granted on Tuesday, business rescue practitioners put Nedbank at the top of the list with at least R1.7bn in money owed by Comair, whose collapse has triggered fears that ticket prices will skyrocket in an ailing economy that counts tourism as a bright sector. – Business Day

Standard Bank confident as backdrop darkens. Standard Bank, Africa's largest lender by assets, has signalled profit growth of at least a fifth for its half-year to end-June, but warned that the global environment and outlook for local interest rates has deteriorated. By the end of May, the Reserve Bank had delivered on the 100 basis points (bps) of interest rate increases Standard Bank had expected for 2022. The lender has upwardly revised that forecast to 175bps of hikes this year. – Business Day

Telkom slides almost 10% on 'flat' full-year earnings. The share price of JSE-listed telecommunications giant Telkom closed almost 10% down on Tuesday, following the group releasing a lacklustre set of annual results. Telkom reported a 1.1% decline in revenue, to R42.8 billion, for the year ended 31 March 2022. Its Ebitda (earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, amortization) came in "flat" at 0.5%, despite the group noting that its 'Ebitda margin' expanded to 27.9%. At around 11h00, the group's share price traded 5.5% weaker at R38.01 a share. But the stock's slide continued into afternoon trade, ending the day 9.52% down, at R36.40 on the JSE. - Moneyweb
