Local News

The sudden return of the rental index growth into negative territory affirms the pass-through effects of Covid-19 pandemic on the rental market. This is unsurprising given the notable job losses and reduced income for the most part of the workforce as the country implemented Covid-19 containment measures during this period. As a result, this brought the national weighted average rent to N$7,091 at the end of September 2020 compared to N$7,164 recorded over the same period in 2019, this according to FNB's market research manager Frans Uusiku, in their residential rental index report. The FNB residential rental index shows that the 12-month moving average growth in rent prices took a dip of -1.3% at the end of September 2020. - Namibian Sun

A total of 306 building plans were approved by the City of Windhoek in October, 72 more than in September. In value terms, approvals rose by N$194.1 million to N$327.7 million in October from N$133.6 million worth of approvals in September. A total of 65 building plans were completed at a value of N$54.8 million in October, a decrease of 73.4% y/y in number and 50.1% y/y in value of completions. Year-to-date, N$1.54 billion worth of building plans have been approved, 9.6% lower than the comparative period a year ago. On a twelve-month cumulative basis, 2,173 building plans were approved worth approximately N$1.83 billion, 1.2% higher in value terms than approvals at the end of October 2019. -IJC

The absence of a system-wide framework that deals with assets and interests, disclosures and conflicts of interest in Namibia could establish leeway for Fishrot cases, the Institute for Public Policy Research (IPPR) has said. Speaking during the launch of the Namibian Governance Report in Windhoek on Friday, a research associate at IPPR, Frederico Links said there are no laws or measures in place to prevent another corruption scandal in the fishing industry. According to him, there is a need for a strong intervention from the State in this area in terms of anti-corruption. "In a country like Namibia, the Government, which dominates the economy must set the tone on fighting corruption," he said, adding that the law which was amended to facilitate what is now known as the Fishrot scandal remains intact. "The new Fisheries Minister Albert Kawana promised to be transparent. But up to today, we don't know who has fishing quotas or rights. If you go to the ministry website, it looks like it stopped working in 2012," echoed IPPR Executive Director Graham Hopwood. According to him, the Fisheries Ministry operates in secrecy. - NBC

The Agriculture, Water and Land Reform Minister Calle Schlettwein visited Etunda Irrigation Project and Asparagus factory at Oshifo in the Omusati Region. The minister held a closed-door meeting with Etunda management, staff and small scale farmers. The asparagus project started in 2016 with a trial at Omahenene Research Station before it was moved to the farm at Etunda in 2017. Asparagus is largely consumed in Europe where it is exported, only a small amount of the vegetables is consumed in Namibia because it is not popularly known. The first harvest of asparagus, 100 tons was done in February this year and it was bottled, canned and exported to Europe. The second harvest of 80 tons was done in June and it was also exported to Europe. The next harvest is in June next year and about 500 tons are anticipated to be harvested at four farms. Minister Calle Schlettwein is happy that asparagus is one of the green scheme projects that is doing well. Although much of its production is exported to Europe, the minister is hopeful that the vegetable is sold locally to contribute to the country's economy. -NBC

SA Economic News

Eskom Holdings SOC Ltd, South Africa's state power utility, was ordered to comply with pollution limits at three of its coal-fired plants this year while two more are being investigated, the government's environment department said in its first disclosure about most of the orders. The violations listed in the National Environmental Compliance and Enforcement Report 2019-20 include excessive emissions of particulate matter and groundwater pollution.

Company News

A2X Markets, the alternate exchange that began trading in October 2017 with just three listings, plans to attract secondary listings from all JSE top 40 counters by 2023, a move it says could save the asset management industry more than R1bn a year. The Johannesburg-based exchange now has 37 listings with a total market capitalisation of R2.2-trillion, of which nine are among the JSE top 40. The nine are Naspers, Sanlam, Exxaro Resources, Growthpoint Properties, Nepi Rockcastle, Mr Price, Standard Bank, Aspen and Sasol. In addition, A2X plans to boost its trading volumes from less than 1% of cross-market trade between itself and the JSE to 20%-25% in three to five years. - Business Day

Anchor Group plans to buy out minority shareholders and delist from the JSE and A2X Markets in a move it says will level the playing field with its unlisted competitors. If its proposed scheme of arrangement is successful, it will be the latest in a growing number of small and mid-cap companies to leave the exchange, with the costs and onerous requirements of being listed outweighing the benefits. It's offering R4.25 per share to minorities, with a comparable offer to employees who are part of its employee share scheme. The offer price represented a 7.59% premium to its closing price on Thursday and a 10.79% premium to the weighted average traded price of its stock over the 30 business days prior to the announcement. - inccConnect

Cell C, SA's fourth-biggest mobile operator, says that pending arbitration it might push for the liquidation of Huge Group's telecoms unit as it seeks to get R60m that it believes it is owed. Huge — a holding company with investments in subsidiary companies operating in the telecommunications, media, technology and software industries — has been involved in a dispute with Cell C for the last 18 months. -Business Day

Octodec Investments says it plans to take advantage of a two-month extension granted to real estate investment trusts (REITs) before they have to declare distributions to shareholders. That means, in order to retain its REIT status, it is required to make a distribution by the end of February, six months after its year end. In an updated trading statement, the property group said distributable income for the year to end-August would be 22% lower than last year. It's required to pay out at least 75% of distributable earnings as dividends. In April, it decided not to pay an interim dividend for the six months to end-February and withdrew its previous distribution guidance due to the possible fallout from Covid-19. - inccConnect

Sasol says its low-density polyethylene unit at Lake Charles Chemicals Project achieved beneficial operation on 15 November. The unit, damaged in a fire during commissioning in January 2020, is the last of seven to be brought into operation. Lake Charles Chemicals Project is now 100% complete with total capital expenditure forecast to be within the previously guidance of US$12.8bn. The LDPE unit, which uses ExxonMobil technology, has a nameplate capacity of 420 kilotons per annum. All units which were operating prior to Hurricane Laura have returned to operation, with no further operational impact from Hurricane Zeta.

Tsogo Sun Hotels says its interim results clearly reflect the devastating impact that Covid-19 and the accompanying lockdown regulations have had on the hospitality industry in general and it in particular. Despite the recent move to level 1 lockdown restrictions, it says the recovery of the hospitality industry is likely to be slow due to the uncertainties around the health of travellers, and the negative economic impact on government, corporates and individuals leading to reduced spend on hotel accommodation and conferences. - inccConnect

Vodacom Group Ltd. reinstated growth targets over the next three years based on an expected economic recovery from the Covid-19 crisis in 2022 and resilient demand for the wireless carrier's services. South Africa's largest mobile-phone company now sees mid-single digit growth in both service revenue growth and the operating profit, according to a statement on Monday. The move follows a decision by the Johannesburg-based company to scrap forecasts in the early phase of the pandemic, in response to the uncertain environment.

SADC

Angola's consumer prices rose 24.07% y/y, the fastest pace since January 2018, according to the Instituto Nacional de Estatística. Inflation for the province of Luanda jumped to a more than 2 and half year high.
