JSE Market Wrap

The FTSE/JSE Africa All Share Index fell 0.6% to 73,350.94 as 68 stocks gained, 69 fell, and 3 were unchanged. Mondi rose 4.7%, Fairvest gained 4.5% and Capital & Counties Properties climbed 4.2%. Kumba Iron Ore fell 12.6%, RFG Holdings dropped 9.8% and Famous Brands declined 6.6%.

International Market Wrap

US stocks slid as the selloff in Treasuries resumed, with traders bracing for the possibility of more aggressive policy tightening by the Federal Reserve. The dollar gained. The S&P 500 dropped 1.5% in a dramatic reversal of a more than 1% rally in early trading Thursday on the back of upbeat earnings. The tech-heavy Nasdaq 100 fell about 2%, underperforming than main benchmarks, as the jump in yields weighed on growth-related stocks. An Asian share gauge sank about 1% to a more than one-month low, sapped by Japan and Hong Kong. China's economy sapping Covid lockdowns weighed on the nation's equity bourses. Beijing's vow of market stability has so far failed to revive sentiment much.

Govt working on synthetic fuel legislation. The government has started working on legislation on synthetic fuels that will govern all things related to green hydrogen and other synthetic fuels, says presidential economic adviser James Mnyupe. Mnyupe, who doubles as the country's green hydrogen commissioner, announced this yesterday at the 2022 Namibian International Energy Conference in the capital. He said consultations are in place to establish a fitting law that would allow the country to be competitive. It would be critical for Namibia to ride the energy-transition wave well amid competing countries, he said. – The Namibian

Deposit guarantees now at N$10 million. At the end of 2021 Namibian commercial banks had set aside N$10.2 million to be used in case any of the bank's operations goes south and depositors risk losing their funds. This amount is saved with the Namibian Deposit Guarantee Authority and is only 0.009% of the N$113 billion balance at the end of the year. – The Namibian

Namibia faces high inflation headache. There are fears that Namibia's annual inflation could reach a high of 7% this year, unless there are significant developments across the world to halt crude oil prices. This was after the Bank of Namibia revised upwards the country's annual inflation forecasts for 2022 to 6% from the initial estimate of 4.7% at a time when the US inflation climbed to 8.5% in March, highest rate since 1981. "Although overall inflation remains within a reasonable range, its food and transport components are expected to remain elevated and continue to have a disproportionate effect on the low segment of the society, and therefore requires close monitoring," BoN Governor Johannes !Gawaxab said. – The Brief

NSX trades N$800m in a week. Close to N$800 million has changed hands on the Namibian Stock Exchange (NSX) in the past week, with a record trade of N$391.22 million recorded in one day. The high value consecutive trades were recorded starting Wednesday last week when N$48.15 million was traded, followed by the record N$391.12 million on Thursday, while N$166.12 million was traded on Tuesday and N$192.06 million traded on Wednesday this week. – The Brie

SA Economic News

The rand slumped to its weakest level in more than a month against the dollar as hawkish rhetoric from European Central Bank officials added to concerns about aggressive tightening in developed markets. The ECB could lift policy rates above zero before the end of the year unless the euro-zone economy suffers a severe shock, Governing Council member Pierre Wunsch said. Another Governing Council member, Martins Kazaks, said Wednesday a rate hike may come as soon as July.

Company News

Barclays halves stake in Absa via R10.38bn stake sale. Barclays Plc has sold a 7.4% stake in former African unit Absa Group for 526 million pounds, cutting its holding by half. The firm priced an accelerated placing of 63 million shares at R164 each (US$10.88), according to a statement Thursday. That was a 7.3% discount to the Johannesburg-listed stock's Wednesday close. Barclays gathered enough investor orders to cover the sale within minutes of opening the book, terms seen by Bloomberg showed. – Bloomberg

Anglo comes down to earth with a bump after stellar 2021. Anglo American suffered a stock market rout of well over R100bn across its portfolio on Thursday as the global mining giant issued an operational guidance that showed it is struggling to meet annual production targets and keep costs in check. Anglo, whose interests include diamond arm De Beers and Kumba Iron Ore, is among the top global mining companies that have been riding high on elevated commodity prices and the global economic recovery from the pandemic. – Business Day

Cashbuild raises concern over effects of inflation on product pricing. JSE-listed construction retailer, Cashbuild, reported a 10% drop in revenue in its third fiscal quarter. Around a third of the decline was attributed to the looting of 36 stores during the unrest last year. Excluding the effects of the riots, revenue would have been down 7%. According to Cashbuild's financial director, Etienne Prowse, rising product inflation of 8.1% has made many products less affordable for its core lower-end customers. "We have to get into different living standards measure (LSM) segments. We have been aiming for between level four and six." Prowse says its steel products saw a 20% increase in price, which drastically reduced sales. – Moneyweb

Kumba lowers production and sales prediction for 2022. Kumba Iron Ore has lowered its production and sales prediction for 2022 due to heavy rain and problems with the reliability of its equipment caused by a global shortage of heavy mobile equipment spares, the Covid-19 pandemic and geopolitical disruptions. SA's largest iron producer revised its production and sales guidance from 39-million tonnes to 41-million tonnes, to 38-million tonnes to 40-million tonnes, it said in a production and sales report on Thursday for the quarter to end-March. Total production was down 21% to 8.3-million tonnes, and total sales down 8% to 9.5-million tonnes in the first quarter. – Business Day

Sportsmans Warehouse owner anticipates a big profit increase ahead of Old Mutual takeover. Long4Life says it anticipates a major jump in earnings for the year ended 28 February 2022, as the takeover of the group nears its conclusion. In a statement on Thursday, the group said its headline earnings per share would increase by between 92% and 105% from 31.9 cents in the previous year. The group, whose brands include Chill Beverages, Sorbet, Sportsmans Warehouse and Candi & Co, is in the process of being acquired by Old Mutual Private Equity (OMPE). The acquisition was approved by shareholders in February. They will receive R6.20 per share. Long4Life said it has already obtained approval from the competition authorities in Namibia for the sale of its operations in that country. But it is still waiting for approval from South African authorities. – Fin24

Sappi claims US$28m from insurers for flood damage and lost production. Pulp and paper producer Sappi says it has made an insurance claim of US$28m (R431m) after being hit by the recent deluge and flooding. Sappi's SA operations were disrupted at its Saiccor, Tugela and KwaDukuza Mills. Some of the group's staff could not travel to or from work. Services and transport of goods were affected. – Business Day
